Ward Lumber announces Light Livestock Equipment & Supply's Vendor of the Year

Jay, NY - Jay Ward, owner of Light Livestock Equipment, announced Animal Health International, as the recipient of the 2011 Vendor of the Year Award.

Animal Health International met or exceeded criteria set for outstanding customer service, excelling in the areas of sales, order processing and timely and accurate deliveries. Jon Capen, LLE Manager, recently attended Animal Health International's annual buying show and presented the award. Jon said "Kim has provided excellent customer service and knowledge to support us in our health and medical purchases. Animal Health International is very deserving of this award." Kim has been working at Animal Health International for 5 years, and she has over 25 years of experience in the animal health field. Before working at AHL, she helped her husband operate their 160 cow dairy farm.

Light Livestock Equipment is supplier of light livestock equipment located in Jay, NY. Light Livestock Equipment supplies quality light livestock equipment for alpacas, llamas, mini-horses, mini-cows, sheep, donkeys and goats. Light Livestock Equipment is a joint venture between AuSable Valley Alpacas and Ward Lumber. Both businesses are owned and operated by Jay Ward and family.
