Free Gardening Workshops at Ward Lumber Beginning April 29

Ward Lumber in Jay is hosting a series of free gardening workshops covering a variety of topics in 2015.

The first workshop is Backyard Berries with Amy Ivy on Wednesday, April 29 at 6:00pm. Amy said “Growing berries at home on a small scale can be a lot of fun, but it does have its challenges. We’ll address those challenges and discuss the key to successfully growing strawberries, raspberries and blueberries at home. Site, soil, varieties and management will be covered.” Amy is Regional Vegetable Specialist with Cornell Cooperative Extension.

Other upcoming Gardening Series Workshops: Garden Planning with Dana Fast on Wednesday, May 27; Wildlife and Pest Management with Bunny Goodwin and Paul Morley on Wednesday, June 24; Canning with Karen Bouchard-Braun on Wednesday, July 29. Additional monthly workshops will be added soon through November.

All of the free Gardening Series Workshops will be held at Ward Lumber, 697 Glen Road, Jay, NY. Register for Backyard Berries and other upcoming Gardening Series Workshops online at WardLumber.com or call Kim at 946-2110, X120.

Ward Lumber is a two-unit building materials supplier with locations in Jay and Malone, NY. One of the largest private employers in Essex County, Ward Lumber manages over 6,000 acres of timberland and operates one of New York State’s largest white pine sawmills and planing mills.
